HERNDON HARALSON of HAYWOOD COUNTY TENNESSEE

Following is a biographical sketch of Herndon Haralson along with excerpts from his diary, submitted by Virginia Naylor Smith, 1716 Temple Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee 37215, transcribed from original records in the Tennessee State Archives in Nashville. The diary reads as follows:

A short Biographic sketch of the life of Herndon Haralson written by his own hand Jan. 1st 1837 viz.

My Grand Father Peter Haralson imigrated from Holland to North America in the year 1715 and landed in Virginia. Shortly afterwards he married a young lady by the name of Chambers in the County of Hanover, by whom he had four sons and one Daughter. About the year 1750, these four brothers (after their Fathers Death) removed out and settled, a small river of the Dan in the County of Orange North Carolina. Paul, who was the 3rd Son and being my Father, in the year 1754 married Nancy Lea, the Daughter of James Lea, then of Orange County and of the ancient family of Leas now living in the County of the State, by whom he has Eight sons and five Daughters, I being the first of the sons was born on the 12th day of October 1757. My Father not being in affluent circumstances _____ a limited English Education as was customary in those days. When about nineteen years of age, and at the opening of the land office in N. Carolina I received the _____ of Deputy Surveyor for the County of Caswell and continued in that business untill the year 1780 at which time Col. Archibald Murphey the Clerk of the Court for sd County employs me as deputy in his office, with whom I continued untill Lord Cornwallace entered the State and passed through to the State of Virginia. On his march through the State he passed immediately (with his Army) by the office, Col. Murphey being then in the American Army. I collected the Records (to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy) and deposited them safely and apply'd for a Commission to raise a Volunteer Company. It was immediately granted me and in a few days I had a completed Company, well equipped and I joined the Army under Genl. Greene. At this time the Tories was embodying in the neighbourhood of Hillsborough under the command of Col. Piles (a Dutch Doctor). We marched immediately, surprised and cut them to pieces. A few days afterwards we fought the battle at Whitsils Mill on the Reedy fork of _____ River; thence a severe skirmish on the Alamance; a few days afterwards the battle at Guilford Court House. From there I marched with army of Genl. Green to the Battle at the Eutaw Springs in South Carolina. I received a Majors command of three _____ dollars _____ infantry called the Marshall Corps. After this battle I returned to North Carolina in charge of about 500 prisoners to the Town of Salisbury and was discharged. I again took charge of the Clerks office in Caswell untill the year 1784. An offer was then made me by Robert Donald & Co. importing Merchants of Petersburg, Virginia, as Clerk of the House; I accepted and continued in their employ for 3 years, returned again to Caswell, took charge of the Clerk's office untill the year 1791. At which time on the 4th of Octo. in that year I married Mary Murphey the Daughter of said Archibald Murphey and settled in that County. By whom I had Eight sons and three Daughters. In the year 1792 the County being divided I fell in the new County by the name of Person. I was employed by one Ro. Payne (who was elected Clerk of County) to take charge of his office. While engaged in this _____ and in the year 1793 I was Elected a Representative to the House of Commons for this County and continued as such _____ annual Elections till the year 1800.

HERNDON HARALSON of HAYWOOD COUNTY TENNESSEE (Continued)

I declined and was appointed by the Judge of the Superior Court, Clerk of that Court, and continued to act till the year 1816. I resigned that office and removed to the Town of Danville in Petersburg, Virginia, from thence in the year 1818 I removed to the Town of Haywood Chatham County N. Carolina, from thence in the year 1820 I removed to the State of Tennessee and settled in the Wilderness on the Forked Deer River. Two years afterwards the District being organized by marking the Counties and Establishing the Courts, my residence fell in the County of Madison and Town of Jackson. I was commissioned in the Peach _____ continued till the year 1825. I then sold my land and removed to Haywood County where I now live. In the year 1826 I was appointed Agent for the State Bank and continued until the funds were directed to be paid over to the School Commission in the year 1832. Congress passed a law for the Payment of Pension to the Revolutionary Officers and Soldiers who had served six months in that War, commencing on the 4th March 1831 payable semi annually during their natural life. _____ that description I made my Declaration for a Capt. I was allowed at the War Office One hundred & Eighty dollars per annum. The history contained in the declaration, enumerating all the occurrences in the War as to myself was truly interesting. It was made out and prepared from the recollection of my services and written by my hand and passed without hesitation - having thus in a short and explicit manner given a history of part of my past, I commence a diary, beginning on the first of January 1837 being on this day seventy nine years two months and ninety days of age.

James Lea mentioned in the _____ line, 1st page died in the year 1769 being ninety nine years of age. His wife died upwards of 90, they had lived together as man and wife upwards of 75 years. -

Battles in which I fought in the Revolutionary War:

Fought and defeated Col. Piles the Tory February 21st 1781
 Fought at Whitesills Mills March 2nd 1781
 Skirmish on the Alamance March....1781
 Battle at Guilford Courthouse March 15th 1781
 _____ battle at Eutaw Springs C. Carolina September 8th 1781

At my death to be presented to my youngest daughter Mary H. Steele as a mark of my affection. Septem 10th 1837.

H. HARALSON

SQUIRE LUTHER E. MATHIS

Bernard Mathis Malloy, M. D., 2520 L Street N. W., Washington, D. C. 20037, submits the following article taken from the Jackson Sun, Jackson, Tennessee, September 30, 1928, concerning his maternal grandfather, L. E. Mathis, his father and maternal grandfather, all Gibson County residents.

SQUIRE MATHIS IS HONORED BY SONS OF U. C. V.

Appointed Assistant Inspector-in-Chief — Receives Commission.

Squire LUTHER E. MATHIS for 22 years a Madison County Magistrate, has just received his commission appointing him assistant inspector-in-chief of the Sons of the United Confederate Veterans, headquarters of which is in Richmond, Va.

The commission states that Squire Mathis is to exercise those duties consistent with the post to which he has been appointed, and it shall be his duty to carry out and to promote the welfare of the parent organization, the United Confederate Veterans, as well as the younger organization composed of sons of the valiant band that wore the gray.

The commission was issued by Edmond R. Miles, commander-in-chief of the Sons of United Confederate Veterans, and Walter L. Hopkins, chief of staff.

Squire Mathis is Past Division Commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans for the state of Tennessee. He served eight years.

His Father Saved from Hanging By a Union Friend.

Yesterday Squire Mathis told a very interesting and thrilling story of his father, the late A. L. MATHIS, who was a lifelong resident of Gibson county. It concerned the time during the turbulent days of the sixties when A. L. Mathis was "running the blockade" between Jackson and Hickman, Ky.

"My father was a member of the blockade running band that slipped in and out of the Yankee lines, carrying medicine, tobacco and articles of food," Squire Mathis related.

"The Yankees had Hickman in a bad condition. Many soldiers of the Confederacy were sick there, as well as numbers of women and children. The demand for food and medicines far exceeded the supply. The blockade runners did valiant service, trying to help their suffering comrades-in-arms.

"One day my father started from Jackson with food and medicine. When he was near Hickman, and hopeful of making it into the town in safety with his precious cargo, he was suddenly confronted by a scouting party of Union soldiers who had been detailed to watch out particularly for blockade runners. You, the Yankees had a great way of trying to break the spirit of the Southern people by attempting to deprive them of the necessities of life. Medicines were one of the many articles sorely needed by the Confederates throughout the war.

"The scouting party captured my father, who was riding a mule and carrying medicines hidden beneath corn in a sack across his saddle. They took him to Hickman. He was tried before one of the Union courts-martial, composed of a major-general and several staff officers. The verdict of the court-martial was that he was to be hanged for helping the Confederates - his own side!

"They locked him up in the military prison, the execution being set for a date four days off. My father thought he had performed his last service for the people he loved. He made his peace with his God.

Unexpected Help.

"On the evening of the second day of his imprisonment, my father was surprised and greatly overjoyed to hear the voice of his life-long friend, Crick Martin, outside his cell. Martin and he had grown up together, but he knew that Martin was a Union sympathizer.

"Even as he greeted Martin through the bars of his cell, my father's hope dwindled. Martin was his lifelong friend and boon companion of other days, but what could Martin do under the circumstances? Would friendship avail against the verdict of a court-martial?

"His spirits wend down to the bottom of the well of hope. Martin greeted him warmly. Being a well known Unionist, Martin had free access to my father's cell. They talked in low tones. My father explained how he was captured, the charge upon which he had been sentenced to death, and his conviction that he would live but two more days.

"Martin got busy, telling my father to keep up his courage and hope; that all was not lost yet. He hurried away to use his influence. Night came and passed. Next morning at sunrise my father knew he would be sent into eternity at the end of a rope. Despite his best efforts to be cheerful over Martin's cheery parting words, his spirits again ebbed. Despair set in and he wondered vaguely whether his neck would be broken by the drop or whether he was doomed to a horrible death by strangulation.

"Strange, terrible thoughts for my father, cooped up in the military prison. And all the time he was worrying so much, his friend Martin was doing good work in his behalf. Martin laid himself liable to suspicion, he knew, by his efforts in my father's behalf. But that did not deter him.

"Friendship with Crick Martin was a strong blaze that knew no quenching even by the vicissitudes that are brings inevitably. Finally he got the ear of the major-general who had presided at the court-martial that sentenced my father to death.

"For an hour he pleaded earnestly for the life of his boyhood friend. At last, as the third day was waning, the major-general signed a release order. My father's eyes were staring at the flickering kerosene lamps and lanterns in the corridors of the prison, all hope of life now gone, when the quick step of Crick Martin echoed down the cell tier.

A moment later his cheery voice sounded. With Martin was a prison guard who unlocked my father's cell when Martin showed him the release order. Martin and my father went to the office of the prison commander, turned over the written order to him, and my father's personal effects were restored to him.

"The only requirement that the Union commander insisted upon was that my father refrain from blockade running in the future. As he saw the war was nearing its end, anyway, he consented. For years he had done his part with his rifle and as blockage runner His health was impaired by exposure. The war closed a few months after he reached home to recuperate his strength."

Nine Uncles and Grandfather in the Confederate Forces.

Squire Mathis smiled when asked if he had any other kinfolk in the Confederate army except his father.

"I had nine uncles and a grandfather in the Confederate armies," he said. Which probably is a record for one family.

Mention of his maternal grandfather (John S. Rush, Jr.) reminded Squire Mathis that his grandfather narrowly escaped injury or death at the hands of General Freeling Hurst, the Union renegade commander who was so bitterly hated by Confederates of this section. General Hurst's home was at Purdy in McNairy county.

"My frandfather was caught once by Gen. Hurst's men - Hurst was with them - and suffered considerable humiliation at their hands. Most of the soldiers in this particular detachment of Hurst's men were negroes.

"At Hurst's orders, the negro troopers tied my grandfather's hands behind his back, cursed and threatened him with death in many horrible forms and marched him, afoot, up the dusty road under a broiling sun a distance of several miles.

"When they had humiliated him in all ways they could think of, he was freed. My grandfather never got over that insult at the hands of Hurst and his colored troops."

Alexander, a Confederate soldier, who was born ca 12/1853 prob. at Saltillo, Tenn. as his father lived there. A sister was Mrs. M. M. Cravens. A brother was Dr. A. J. Alexander of Fulton, Ky. (living there in 1914 and in 1916.) B. M. Alexander served in Co. "H" of the 16th and/or 21st Tennessee Regt. He was paroled at Gainsville, Ala. after the surrender, and returned home in 1865. His children were: J. R. (Bob) Alexander and Hettie Gertrude Alexander. Hettie married John (Bud) Gibson, my grandfather. Need data on B. M.'s date of birth, parent's names, wife's name etc. Will xch. info.
